Arthur J. Harrington is Chair of the firm's Environmental and Energy Law Practice Group. He has a reputation for representing a diverse cross-section of clients including Fortune 500 business, municipal, land trust, tribal and state agency clients to accomplish their respective environmental and energy goals. This diverse client mix provides Mr. Harrington with a unique perspective for achieving client goals in often complex environmental and energy engagements. Mr. Harrington is particularly proud of his role where he has utilized his diverse client experience to develop successful legal strategies for Brownfield developments, sustainable business plans and renewable energy projects for the Firm's clients.
