“Maximizing EPC Act - how to lower ENERGY project costs by up to 40%”

Mark Holter

Director, Energy Solutions, Uihlein Electric Co., Inc

The Federal Government offered great financial help for Energy Conservation projects through the 2008 Extension of the Energy Policy Act of 2005, known as EPC Act. While this tax vehicle exists for corporations to use as financial benefit on Energy Projects, few understand how to access the calculations needed to utilize the program. Uihlein Electric's Energy Solutions Group has consulted with companies, and administered this benefit nation wide for Fortune 500 companies, as well as local companies looking to take the maximum advantage of every dollar towards Energy Reduction Projects.

There also exist's a provision for Government Owned Building Owners to take advantage of this same benefit. Learn how Cudahy High School used this program to fund 23% (over $46,000.00) of project cost upgrading their entire High School lighting system in addition to funding from Focus On Energy

Presenter Biography:

Mark Holter

Uihlein Electric created it's Energy Solutions group in the summer of 2008 as a way to help their customer base and new customers find successful solutions to ever rising energy costs. Through creation of this group Uihlein has developed Building Energy Usage Solutions that will help create and author organizations energy strategy and define energy solutions for existing and new buildings. Their success has been built on the rigorous application of a five step "Energy Solutions Process". Starting with a Planning session, their team will help look at your organization's goals and your facility as the relate to; your core business, facility needs, finance and environmental impact. Once your goals are understood, their team of professionals will take you through Feasibility, Design, Implementation then finish with Measurement and Verification to ensure that both energy reduction and financial goals where realized.

Mark Holter, Director of Energy Solutions leads the group that seeks to author real solutions that are financially viable and bring the best ROI to their customer's and clients. With an extensive background in Electrical Contracting, and a strong awareness of ever changing trends in Energy Reductions Strategies, he has assembled a team of professionals to deal with the entire Energy Spend for any building or environment.
